

Smith–Purcell oscillator in an exponential gain regime

Levi Schächter<sup>a)</sup>

Department of Electrical Engineering, Technion, Israel Institute of Technology, Haifa 32000, Israel

Amiram Ron

Department of Physics, Technion, Israel Institute of Technology, Haifa 32000, Israel

(Received 15 August 1988; accepted for publication 6 December 1988)

A Smith–Purcell oscillator with a thick electron beam is analyzed in its exponential gain regime. A general expression is obtained for the dispersion relation of the oscillator, and the threshold current for self-sustained oscillations is found to be less than 1 A for radiation of 1-mm wavelength.