

Uniform amplitude excitation of radiating elements in array antenna pin-fed from radial waveguide

L. Pazin and Y. Leviatan

Abstract: A practical method is presented for determining the lengths of the coupling wires (pins) in circular antenna arrays excited by a wave travelling in a radial waveguide. The validity of the proposed method is confirmed by comparing the calculated results with data published in the literature.
